Travis Askew Joins Summit Systems

Key Manager Added to Direct New A/V Division

ATLANTA — June, 2007 — Today Summit Systems, Inc. (SSi) of Buford, Georgia announces the addition of Travis Askew as Director of the newly formed Audio Visual Systems Group. Travis Askew is a proven, results oriented industry professional with over 15 years of Audio Visual experience in all facets of the industry from technical, sales, and management. Travis also holds a Bachelors of Business Administration from Georgia Southwestern State University. The addition of Mr. Askew comes in a series of strategic additions to Summit Systems in conjunction with the formation of Summit's Audio Visual Systems Group. Travis Askew will join Summit Systems, Inc. officially in mid June, 2007 and will report to Tim Gorisek, Sr. Vice President.

Tim Gorisek, stated "You do not always get more than one chance to work with such great professionals. I am truly fortunate and excited about working with Travis again. Over the last 7 years, Travis and I have been very successful in organization building. Travis is a proven, dedicated manager with values that are consistent with my, and Summit's culture concerning customers, employees, and quality. By coupling his capabilities to Summit's stellar reputation with customers and our current offerings, we have mitigated the investment risk with our new Audio Visual Systems Group by 100%".

Summit Systems, Inc. (SSi) is a privately held, Georgia based professional solutions provider with an impeccable reputation for quality and consistently providing a positive customer experience. SSi provides a unique combined offering with complete service solutions in Audio Visual Systems, Structured Data and Voice Communications, and Power Systems.
